These images are details from Marie-Hélène's previous series called, 'Golden Ratio'

- The Golden Ratio is a special number.
- It's already special and it comes from nature. It was for man to find.
- For eggheads the 'number' is approximately equal to 1.618
- For nerds the 'golden ratio' symbol is the Greek letter "phi"
- This 'golden ratio' appears in geometry, art, architecture and other areas, but most startlingly from nature itself.
- The point, as deduced by Plato and Michael Angelo and many other eggheads and nerds of note, is there exists a mathematical equation for perfection. A very interesting concept that appears, at least to this author's eye, in this artist's work.
